SOCIAL EVENTS

Wilson Lane, 19 Jackson street, gave a surprise party Tuesday evening for Mrs. Lane on her birthday. She was invited to go to the Myers hotel for a quiet little dinner. When she arrived she found 26 friends waiting to receive her, and she was surprised to find that it took her some time to collect her thoughts. The guests were served at a dinner in the ordinary at seven o'clock. The table was handsomely decorated with baskets of flowers, pink candles with shades, and ropes of amaranth, extending from the corners of the table. Five courses were served. After dinner the party adjourned to the Lane home where bridge was played. The prizes were won by Mrs. Charles Field and J. P. Baker. The guests who enjoyed the evening were: Mrs. Lane, a member, and their husbands. The club gave her a tea cart of wicker for her porch, which was presented in a very happy manner by the club. The party was most delightful, as all affairs given by the hospitable Wilson Lanes always are. Mrs. William Wheeler, Washington, D. C., was the out-of-town guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sheldon, Milwaukee avenue, opened their home Tuesday evening to friends. After dinner, the party adjourned to the Sheldon home where bridge was played. MILITARY BALL IS BIG SUCCESS; OVER
350 COUPLES THERE

Over 350 couples attended the military ball of the American War Veterans at the armory last night. The party was declared the biggest social event of the season. The heavy down-pour early in the evening kept more than a hundred couples away.

National colors of the allies transformed the hall into a place of beauty. Electrical lighting effects added to the novelty of the features.

The grand march formed shortly after 10 o'clock. It was led by Mayor Thomas E. Welsh and his daughter, Miss Evelyn Welsh.

Thompson's orchestra of Madison was at its best, and the program of fox-trots, one-steps and waltzes was enjoyed to the utmost.

Members of the committee in charge of arrangements and the Veterans' organization came in for congratulations from all sides on the success of their first annual party.

ST. LOUIS WELCOMES
U. S. VETERANS; LOCAL DELEGATION LEAVES

St. Louis, Mo., May 7.—Hundreds of delegates arrived today for the three-day caucus of the American Legion which opens tomorrow.

The temporary executive committee: Lieutenant Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, Bonnet, Clark and Eric Wood, respectively appointed at the Paris caucus, last March is here.

The three officers emphasized that the proposed organization would be non-partisan, non-political and would be a fraternal organization for world war veterans.

More than 1,000 delegates are expected to attend the opening sessions. Each state is allowed a representation equal to twice its congressional representation.

The object of the caucus is to draw up a tentative constitution, arrange a place for the first convention next November and decide on a permanent name for the organization. Officers also will be chosen.

More than 4,000,000 men are expected to join the association, all who were in the service at any period during the war being eligible for membership.

Local Delegates Leave
Headed by Lieut. Lee J. Woodworth, M. C. Robert J. Cunningham and George Strampe, the Janesville Veterans' delegates to the convention at St. Louis got away this afternoon. They will arrive at the meeting tomorrow morning.

No specific instructions were given the Janesville delegates as to procedure relative to matters arising during the convention.

Expenses of the local men are being paid by the American War Veterans' organization of the city, from the proceeds from their first annual military ball given at the armory last night.

County Supervising
Teachers Reappointed

Miss Harriet Bill and Miss Jennie Dean were reappointed county supervising teachers and assistants to the county superintendent at a meeting of the county educational committee held at the courthouse this afternoon. The meeting was held earlier than usual this year on account of a change in the law.

Two other changes in the school laws now effective are: maximum salaries for supervising teachers raised from $80 to $100 per month; and that they shall be required to attend a week's institute at Madison during the summer. Members of the committee in attendance at the meeting were: A. G. Austin, Janesville, J. P. Hinkley, Milton, J. P. Smiley, Plymouth, and County Supt. Antisdell.

EVANSVILLE $7,000
OVER TOP IN "V" DRIVE

(By Special Correspondent)
Evansville, May 7.—Evansville has gone over the top in the Victory loan drive by about $7,000. The subscriptions reached from $103,000 to $105,000. The quota was $98,000.

The official count of the success of the drive was reported by City Chairman Fred A. Baker to the county chairman today although the city officials went over the top a week ago. All subscriptions had not been turned in, however, so the report was held back.

Brodhead News

Brodhead, May 7.—Miss Leola Corfe, who was home from Evanston, Ill., for a few days' visit at the home of her parents, returned to that city Tuesday.

Mr. H. Stuart and Mrs. Robert Summerville were visitors with friends in Juda Tuesday.

Brodhead friends of Miss Sarah Peppers and Pearl Engstrom who have been attending the Green county normal for the past year will be pleased to learn that they have been honored by being chosen as salutatorian and valedictorian of the class which that institute will graduate in June.

Lieut. E. J. Mitchell and family arrived home Monday evening from California where they were guests of relatives. Lieut. Mitchell arrived home from across a fortnight ago and will be in his family in the west. We are more than pleased to have them all home again.

Mrs. and Miss Mau were visitors in Janesville Tuesday.

Mrs. L. J. Osborne visited in Janesville Tuesday.

Income Tax Bill
Looks Like Passage

Madison, May 7.—The indications are that the assembly taxation committee will recommend for passage the Severson bill partially removing the secrecy clause of the state income tax law. His bill would give the legislature and tax officials of counties, cities, villages and towns the right to inspect income tax returns when it is believed that a correct report has not been made. No one appeared in opposition to the bill. Severson had letters from a number of citizens and manufacturing establishments in favor of his measure.

BELLANS
FOR INDIGESTION

'Adjusto' Plant Support

Indispensable for Roses, Dahlias, Tomato Vines, Potted Plants, Etc.

The "Adjusto" Plant Support is a marvel for simplicity and efficiency. It consists of two parts: an oak stake pointed at the bottom and painted green and a hoop of the toughest wire, also painted green, to prevent rust.

It contains no nails, hooks, or screws. It holds securely any flower or plant and can be adjusted to any height to conform with the plant's growth.

For all "round garden use and as permanent equipment the "Adjusto" Plant Support can't be touched by anything on the market either in respect to cost or the way they do the work. And then they save the time and labor you otherwise would spend on inefficient equipment. Plants thrive when supported by the "Adjusto" and are sure to bear more beautiful blossoms and perfect fruit.

As permanent equipment which can be used year after year they are dirt cheap.

Every Rock County Farmer Should Know
That the Fordson is at Your Service

You do not know what the Fordson can do for you to help make your work easier, doing it in less time, which means more profit for you.

I will send a Fordson to you on trial with an operator no matter where you live in the County.

Let the Fordson turn Farm work into a pleasant occupation. It will do almost anything you call on it to do. It has three speeds forward: Low at 1½ miles per hr. Plowing speed 2½ miles per hr., and high speed at 8 miles per hour, figured at 1000 revolutions per minute. It also has a reverse speed at 2½ miles per hour. It is the only tractor manufactured today that has a high speed of 8 miles per hour and over. This means that you can go or come from the farthest end of your field at the same rate of speed that you would be traveling on the road.

You can use your Fordson just like you use your car. If you have anything to do across the field jump on the Fordson and away it goes.

Another great feature of the Fordson is its simplicity, no moving parts exposed, it is built like a Ford car, absolutely fool Proof.

One of the most important features is the fact that it burns kerosene and not gasoline. There are a number of tractors sold today as kerosene tractors, but when they are delivered the manufacturer recommends that they use gasoline only.

There is only one genuine Fordson, but there are several imitation tractors. I want to prove all I have to say to you about the Fordson by putting the Fordson to work, and let it speak for itself. Rock County has a large number of Fordson owners, which I will be very glad to have you call, write or telephone to, especially those that have used their tractors during the past year.

Don't put off getting this tractor at once as time is short, and by using a head lamp which can be connected directly to the magneto you can work the Fordson 24 hours per day every day of the week. It has one of the only No-slip pulley ever offered to the public.

I can make immediate delivery. Call, Write, or Telephone.

Tales of the Friendly Forest

Well, I'm going to tell you right away that the two little rabbits got away from home after hiding in the hollow stump to escape Robber Hawk, as I mentioned in the last story. But the grasshopper stayed in the clover patch and built a little house with a front-door latch.

And as soon as Uncle Lucky had put the lucky rabbit in the garage he went into his little white house, and Billy Bunny said good-by, and hopped off home to the Old Brier Patch. And while he was hopping along he should come by but old Professor Crow with his little Black Book.

"Hello there, little rabbit," said the wise old bird, and then he opened his little Black Book and turning to page 23, he said:

"Let me read you something about Rabbits."

"Why?" asked Billy Bunny, and he wiggled his little pink nose so fast that old Professor Crow had to take off his spectacles and wipe them with his silk pocket handkerchief, for his eyes got full of tears watching the little rabbit's twinkling nose.

"Because," answered the Old Crow, "two rabbits have made their home in the left of your mother's old barn."

And then he put on his spectacles again and commenced to read:

"Pigeons always lay two eggs, and these produce a male and a female, and they are mated from birth, and, could they remain so, they would be the happiest of winged beings."

And then the Old Professor closed his book and said: "Better hurry home, little rabbit, and see the pigeons."

So away hopped Billy Bunny, clippety clip, clippety clip, across the Pleasant Meadow, until, by and by, after a while, he came to the Old Brier Patch. There was his mother, Mrs. Bunny, in the back yard. She had just placed a pan of water under a tree and stood waiting for the pigeons to fly down from the barn to drink.

"Don't make any noise, Billy Bunny," she said, and the little rabbit grew near. And pretty soon after that Mr. Pigeon flew down and tasted the water and then he called to Mrs. Pigeon, who fluttered down by his side.

Cock-a-doodle do,
Of pigeons we have two;
But some day there'll be dozens more
A-come by the old barn door."

Thus sang the old Red Rooster, who had come over from Uncle Lucky's to help Mrs. Bunny weed the lettuce patch.

Well, after that Mrs. Bunny and her little rabbit went into the house, and the canary bird, who was in her gold cage on the front porch, began to sing:

"I wouldn't be a pigeon
And live in an old red barn;
I'd rather be here when the weather is clear

And watch Mrs. Bunny darn."
And this made the old lady rabbit laugh, for she spent lots of time, let me tell you, darned the holes in Billy Bunny's stockings.

"ROBIN HOOD" OPERA HERE TUESDAY NIGHT

The De Koven Opera company is coming to the Myers theatre in a big city production, the romantic comic opera, "Robin Hood." Of course, everyone knows all about this tremendously successful American comic opera, how the Bostonians sang it 4,000 times in the big cities, its "O Promise Me," "Armourer's Song" and others.

Things American are booming now and "Robin Hood" has come into its own in New York, where the Park theatre is jammed, and tickets sold weeks ahead.

There is at least one big producer who has faith in Janesville and the other folks in other cities of the size of this and he is sending this great company out where it is wanted.

In speaking of it yesterday, Manager P. L. Myers said, "Of course, you'll attend when it comes—you all will when anything worth while comes, but here's the rub. We must know you will before we can secure it. If we do our part on this production, we will get others like it occasionally, instead of having to wait until we go to some city. Let's have city things. We can it we will."

"Robin Hood" will be presented at the Myers theatre Tuesday evening, May 13.

DOUBLE BILL AT THE APOLLO

Tomorrow, in addition to the regular vaudeville bill, the Apollo management will screen Alice Brady in "The Better Half" in which Miss Brady plays a remarkable dual role. HALCYON YEARS

Annie decided to ask her father about these things that puzzle her. "I know how lightning happened and the Aurora Borealis. And what made summer and winter. And why some people had white skins and some black. Everything. He never failed her."

"Why did Mrs. Shannon take the picture way, Daddy?" Annie plunged straight to her point.

"Because we didn't have the red ready for her this month," her father answered.

"Why didn't we have it? You work father. Don't you earn a lot of money every week?"

"It takes a great deal of money, Nannie, to pay doctors' bills and other things. Sometimes we get a little better. Will we be able to pay it next month?"

"Yes, we will, Nannie. It's getting better all the time now."

"Will you have more money by and by?"

"I hope to—Yes, kiddie, there ought to be more in a short while now."

"But you don't know, Father?"

"Yes, I know, because I hope and believe. Listen, Nannie. If you have hope about a thing, you believe. You believe it more and more, and that's the way you go on living. The harder you try, the more you do. You can do anything, Nannie, if you want it enough, and keep at it, and don't lose hope. Sometimes things are bound to go wrong for a while. You wouldn't."

"Dear Mrs. Thompson: I was plump and pretty until winter, when I lost weight after a long sickness. What should I eat to increase my weight?"

T. H. K.

To gain flesh, take plenty of olive oil, eat eggs, butter, cereals and fatty broths, potatoes, peas, beans, corn, carrots and parsnips, figs, dates, nuts, bananas, raw beefsteak and roast beef.

Drink plenty of milk, cream and cocoa. Avoid food that will not digest easily, and be careful to masticate thoroughly what you do eat.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been married 17 years and have no children. My parents were very strict and I was a girl I was only allowed to have young men from church for my friends. After graduating from high school I went to work and in this way met a fine young man whom I learned to love. He came to see me, but my parents opposed my having anything to do with him because he smoked. He asked me to marry him and through their influence I refused. Later I married a man from church who was recommended by my parents. I have been very unhappy with him, as I might have expected, because I did not love him. He is the kind of a man who has "lady friends" away from home. He takes them places and carries on open flirtations which continually humiliate me. Besides this he compares me with the other "lady friends" and why I don't dress the way they do.

I dress differently because I have different tastes. I think they are loud and they think I am too plain. Shall I get a divorce? I am very unhappy and do not like to live with a man who is untrue to me.

ELLA S.

Probably, both you and the girls have faulty tastes; they are too extreme and you are too conservative. Ask some woman whose judgment you respect to go shopping with you some day. Tell her frankly that you want another person's opinion to help you make your selections. Many married women make the mistake of wearing clothes which cause them to look too old and somber.

Clothes make such a difference that doubtless your husband will notice the unfavorable criticisms.

It is not right for him to go with other women, but if he has not enough personal honor to refrain, you will be to rival the girls. This may be difficult unless you have learned to love him.

I do not favor divorce. You married knowing that you did not love, and now you should make the best of your position. Tell your husband, however, that you would like a divorce, and if he wants one too, such a course would be justifiable.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are two girls 16 years old. We are nice looking and of good reputation and popular among the girls, but not boys. What is the trouble?

ROSEY CREEKS AND DUMPLINS.

You are too young to be popular with boys older than yourselves, and boys of your own age are too young as a rule to think much about girls. Of course there are some girls of 16 who are popular, but I think they are unfortunate rather than fortunate, as they develop too soon and by the time they are old enough to enjoy young men they are cast aside for new attractions.

New Modes of Hairdress Are Inspired by the Hatless Days

It is almost time to begin to cultivate a new mode of hairdress. When the warm summer days come, and one so often is seen without a hat, at summer dances, eas and garden parties, it is essential that the coiffure be perfect. Here are three becoming styles which are imported from Paris. At the upper left is a rather plain and softly arranged style. The hair is parted on the side, brought far out over the ears and drawn back into a French roll. A bandeau of velvet with brilliant stones worn about the forehead. The youthful style at the upper right will be adopted by the young debutante. While her older sister will like the style below which resembles nothing so much as the superb coiffure of Elsie Ferguson. The smudged, hard looking little rolls which have been worn over the ears for so long seem to be taboo in Paris. The very soft, slightly waved locks are far more becoming, and Paris has put her stamp of approval on them.

Miss Gertrude McNally is general organizer of the National Federation of Federal Employees. She recently went to New York to co-operate with the president of the Federal Employees' union in a membership campaign among the men workers in the Brooklyn navy yard.

Conference was held in Washington between officers of the National Federation of Federal Employees and the presidents of local unions of the seavports where are located navy yards, arsenals. The result is the launch of a special membership drive to enlist the thousands of women workers in all the United States navy yards and arsenals.

HOTEL PETROGRAD ENLARGED

A board and rooming has been established by the Y. W. C. A. in Paris in connection with Hotel Petrograd, the Y. W. C. A. hostess house, in order to accommodate the needs of American women war workers thronging into Paris these days.

A French woman is her entire time investigating in private homes, which, if satisfactory, are put on the list at the Petrograd. Rooms are no longer reserved for the hotel, though a list is kept people who have telegraphed or written for accommodations several weeks previous to their arrival, and are given the best thing available.

One large room has been converted into an emergencyitory, with eleven army cots. I am filled each night with women who come after 8 o'clock seekings.

Y. W. C. A.'S BIG PLAN

Upon the shoulders woman has fallen the job of looking out what is one of the most important problems the National Y. W. C. A. Christian Association has to meet in fifty-four years of existence. It is the problem of readjustment to post-war conditions. Miss Butler, who is to tackle the job that the problem of switching a thousands of paid secretaries Y. W. C. One of Miss Butler's is that the Y. W. C. A.'s shall look back to pre-war salaries for the salaries. "We want the best woman and to run our associations," Miss Fried Pigs Feet—Split the feet place in a caldron. One-half cup of water, one-half cup of flour, one teaspoon of salt.

Roll to a smooth batter and then roll the pigs feet in the batter, dip in the butter and fry until golden brown in hot fat. Garnish with slices of lemon and parsley. Serve with tomato sauce.

Orange Salad—Peel and slice thin three oranges and two apples. Separate into bits and serve on lettuce with mayonnaise.

Spanish Salad—Four medium boiled Irish potatoes (cold), one cup coarse chopped celery, two pimientos cut in small pieces, a small bit of finely chopped onion; cut potatoes in small cubes; mix in celery, onion and pimientos with mayonnaise. When ready to serve put a little mound of mayonnaise on top and small strips of pimiento running from center to side.

Rice and Apricot Dumplings.—One cupful of rice, one cupful stewed apricots, one cupful sugar, one teaspoonful salt. Wash and boil the rice 2 minutes; divide into four parts. Take four nine-inch squares of cheese cloth, dip in cold water and spread the rice on so as to look like petals of a flower, one inch thick; put two half apricots in center of rice and one tablespoonful sugar. Bring the corners of cheesecloth together and cover the fruit with the rice. Tie tightly and put in a pan of boiling water and boil a half hour. Remove from the water and let stand five minutes; then unwrap. Place in shallow bowl and cover with apricots that have been mashed with the sugar.

BEAN DISHES.
Bean Dumplings—The amount must vary according to the size of your family. And at least three times the amount of water that you have cold beans. Add salt and pepper as needed and if any pieces of salt pork are left, cut small and use with the beans. Have these in deep basin. Cover top with baking powder dumplings and cook in steamer.

If cooked in kettle or basin on top of stove, the beans settle to the bottom and invariably scorch.

Brain Salad.—Upon a bed of shredded lettuce place a little mound of cold beans. The less broken they are, the better the appearance of this dish. Over each portion dip mayonnaise dressing.

When lettuce is not convenient the beans may be combined with shredded cabbage or celery placed in the salad plates and used with lettuce. In any form the salad is good.

Famo Makes Women's Hair Grow Luxuriantly
Beautiful, healthy, lustrous new hair comes to the head on which FAMO is used regularly.

Women have reported to us that their hair grew as much as four to six inches a short time after they began using FAMO. It also grows men's hair, even where baldness is beginning to appear.

Unless the hair roots are absolutely dead, FAMO will grow hair. FAMO grows new hair because it destroys the seborrhea germ which is killing the hair. The seborrhea bacilli go down into the glands and attack the hair roots.

Unless they are destroyed they will eventually kill the hair. With the germ at work the hair is fighting for its life. Nature fights against disease. But it cannot conquer alone. FAMO will give the necessary aid to assure a healthy scalp. FAMO will destroy the dangerous bacilli and make the hair grow luxuriantly.

It stops all itching of the scalp. FAMO is the result of years of scientific experimentation in one of the greatest pharmaceutical laboratories of Detroit. Its ingredients have been well known to physicians for years but have never before been used on the head.

FAMO has accomplished wonderful results. Every member of the family should use it regularly. It contains no alcohol. FAMO is sold at all toilet goods counters and applications may be had at the better barber shops and hair dressing establishments.

It comes in two sizes—a small size at 35 cents and an extra large bottle at $1. Your money will be refunded if you are not satisfied. Seborrhea is the medical name for a morbidly increased flow from the sebaceous glands of the scalp. The seborrhean secretion forms in scales or flakes and is commonly known as dandruff.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

BUILDING UP A RUN DOWN SYSTEM

Today we select a title for our talk which might easily pass for the title of a patent medicine announcement, but it is otherwise.

Beer, wine, eggs and milk, eggs, without milk, milk without eggs, cod-liver oil, olive oil, tonics, iron salts, cocoa butter rubs, will any of these help to build up a run down system?

Comparatively few.

The first thing to do for a run down system is to determine what ran the system down. The trouble is that people marketing for something to build a system up forget to consider what ran it down. Very often the trick is accomplished by simply arriving to discontinue running a system down; with that attended to, nature soon completes all necessary building operations without any help at all.

It is very trying to carry water in a sieve, taking stuff that purports to build up or increase the weight or strength when the blood or overcomes weakness without giving a thought to the condition which is accountable for the weakness.

That is why physicians are for—to determine whether the run down condition is produced by smouldering tuberculosis, by unsuspected diabetes, by Bright's disease, by concealed hemorrhages, by some kind of unsuspected poisoning connected with the occupation or habits, by irregular habits or whatnot.

The primary condition having been discovered and remedied, it is easy to build the system up, for, as I say, nature really does it while the doctor looks on.

Eggs, agreeably cooked, are good and as they like them. Raw eggs are partly digestible and in general to be taken unless the patient is too ill to eat cooked food. Fresh raw

Use Coconut Oil For Washing Hair
If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulified coconut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulified coconut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

THE GIRL WHO HAD NO GOD

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART
Author of "The Man in Lower Ten," etc.
(Copyright—Mary Roberts Rinehart)

CHAPTER I.

Hilary Kingston had been shot. Old Hilary had been a familiar figure in the village of Woffingham for years. The eccentricity of his gruff derby hat, his beaming gray brows, his always fresh gray gloves, his erect, rather heavy old figure, singled him out from the mass of commuters that thronged the city trains. The gray derby was a part of old Hilary. Except on those rare occasions when he attended service at Saint Jude's he was never seen without it.

He lived on the hill above the village, with his daughter—had lived there for ten years. The hall was beautiful, but old Hilary received no visitors, returned no advances. Visitors thought this curious. The villagers, prosperous business men with smart wives, shrouded their shoulders. The man's house was his own. If he found that he could do without the town, the town could get along without him.

There was no mystery about the hall, and little curiosity. Cars going to the country club passed under the brick wall of the Italian garden. Their occupants sometimes caught a glimpse of Hilary Kingston there, reading in a rose arbor, wandering among her peonies and iris in the spring, or cutting sprays of phlox in midsummer.

The men thought her rather lovely; the women, odd, with her blond hair and dark eyes. The assistant rector of Saint Jude's, newly come to the village, met her face on one of his long country walks, a month or so before old Hilary's death, and could not forget her.

He led the conversation to her that night at a dinner.

"An exquisite face," he described her, "but sad, almost tragically sad."

"Blond?" The lady on his right was a Mrs. Bryant. In honor of the new assistant rector, who came of fine family and was a distinct acquisition to the village, she wore the Bryant pear-shaped pearl. She spoke rather curtly. "I should not call her exquisite—but you probably met Hilary Kingston. Her sadness is a pose, I believe; she has everything she wants."

The assistant rector was young, but very wise. "So he spoke no more of Hilary until the women had left the table. Then he ventured again.

"Don't join the army of those of us who worship from afar," advised the youth who had moved up beside him. "She's the loveliest thing in this part of the country. But, except our saluted rector, no one ever gets to put a foot on the place. It's exclusiveness to the nth power, and then some. There's a lot of talk, of course, or used to be. Old Kingston brings his servants from New York, and except an elderly housekeeper, none of them speak English. They used to say around here that he was a refugee, but that's all rot. He's a stingy old doard, afraid of his handsome youth like myself will captivate the girl. That's all there is to it."

The assistant rector, whose name was Ward, smiled perfunctorily. "I had been told Hilary Kingston had been at first the slogan of the band he galloped around him. 'Against the oppression!' it became later on. Vastly different the two. Most of human charity and kindness lay crushed down and trampled underfoot during old Hilary's progress from Christ to Antichrist."

The band had been gathered with much care. Respectability, order, decorum—these spelled safety to old Hilary's astute mind. Most of them were younger sons of English landed families, with a sprinkling of other nationalities. Young Huff was an Australian, for instance, the son of a wealthy sheep-owner. Boroday, the Russian—implicated in the bomb-throwing that destroyed the minister of war—was a nobleman. Old Hilary had got him out of Siberia during

Public Should Demand Original Nuxated Iron

Physician Warns Against Danger Of Accepting Substitutes—Says That Ordinary Metallic Iron Preparations Cannot Possibly Give The Same

Strength, Power and Endurance

As Organic Iron—Nuxated Iron

The remarkable results produced by Nuxated Iron and its widespread sale (it is estimated that over ten million people annually are today using it) has led to the offering of numerous substitutes, and these physicians mentioned below say that health officials and doctors everywhere should caution the public against accepting substitutes for Nuxated Iron, as these substitutes instead of being organic iron may in some cases produce more harm than good. Those who feel the need of a strength and blood builder, should go to their health stores and obtain a prescription calling for organic iron—Nuxated Iron—and present this to their druggist so that there may be no question about obtaining the proper article. But if they do not wish to go to the trouble of getting a prescription, they should look on the label and see that the words NUXATED IRON are printed thereon.

There are thousands of people taking iron who do not distinguish between organic iron and metallic iron, and such persons often fail to obtain the vital energy, strength and endurance which they seek simply because they have taken the wrong form of iron. If you are not strong or well, you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength and see how much you have gained.

Later on in the evening three of the countless friends arrived at the Courtnay home to pay their respects to their fair compatriot and to discuss the crown jewels. They came and brought with them the consoling information that arrangements were practically completed for the delivery of the jewels into the custody of the French embassy at Washington, through whose intervention they were to be allowed to leave the United States without the formalities usually observed in cases of suspected smuggling.

Upon the arrival in America of trusted messengers on Paris, headed by no less a personage than the ambassador himself, an imperial treasure was to pass into hands that would carry it safely to Nice. Prince Sebastian, still in exile, had been apprised by telegraph of the recovery of the jewels, and was expected to sail for England by the latest steamer.

And while the vipers at the Courtnay house were lining their glasses to toast the princely loved, and, in turn, the beautiful woman who had braved so much misfortune so bravely, and the tall wayfarer who had come into her life, a small man was stooping over a ruffled napkin in a room far downtown, glibly regarding the result of an unusually hazardous undertaking, even one who could perform such miracles here. Scratching his chin, he grinned for he was the kind who bears appointment with a grin—and sat himself down at the big library table the center of the room. Carefully ecting a pen-point he wrote:

"It will be quibbious to you that I called unsexedly tonight. The week was up, yee. I take the liberty of leaving you the paperweight at my elbow as a payment for the damage done to your faithful traveling companion, save the necessary stitches taken the gash and you will find the kiss good as new. Dinner Stories

A bright-eyed little boy in a sailor suit saluted the occupants of a passing motor car so quaintly that they stopped to give him a nickel.

"You're a very polite little fellow," the lady motorist said. "Do you salute all the strangers who pass in the same way?"

"Yes, ma'am, only motorists," the boy stammered, fidgeting his coin nervously. "Father says I have to be polite to them, because motor cars bring him money."

"The lady seemed disappointed. "What is your father's trade, my little man? Does he repair motor cars?"

"No, ma'am; he's an undertaker," was the little fellow's response.

Johnny was at the grocery store. "I hear you have a little sister at your house," said the grocer.

"Yes, sir," said Johnny.

"Do you like that?" was queried. "I wish it was a boy," said Johnny.

"So I could play marbles with him, and baseball," said the storekeeper. "Why don't you exchange your little sister for a boy?"

Johnny reflected for a minute, then he said, rather sorrowfully:

"We can't now; it's too late. We've used her four weeks."

An amateur authoress who had submitted a story to a magazine, after waiting several weeks without hearing from the editor concerning it, finally sent him a note requesting an early decision, as she stated "she had other lions in the fire."

Shortly after came the editor's reply: "Dear Madam—I have read your story, and I should advise you to put it with the other lions."

Your Catarrh May Lead To Consumption

Dangerous to Experiment With Treatment That Gives Only Temporary Relief.

You see everywhere people with stopped-up air passages, who seem to breathe only with the greatest difficulty. There is a constant hacking and spitting in an effort to clear the throat and nostrils, and what appears at first to be only a slight cold holds on with stubbornness until a fully developed case of Catarrh has the victim firmly within its grasp.

There is not the slightest doubt that all this suffering is caused by a tiny disease germ that gets into the blood and multiplies by the million. The catarrh germ attacks the delicate mucous membranes of the nose, throat and air passages.

These become choked up with the accumulations, seriously interfering with the breathing apparatus, and causing untold suffering. There is usually a dry, irritated throat, soreness of the membranes and constant discomfort.

If you have ever been afflicted with Catarrh, you know something of the suffering and inconvenience the disease causes. You know, too, that it cannot be cured by the application of sprays, lotions, ointments, jellies, or other local treatment. Even if such treatment does succeed in opening the stopped-up passages for a while, they soon become clogged again, and there is no progress made toward a cure of the disease.

In addition to the suffering and inconvenience caused by Catarrh, there is always danger that the disease will gradually go lower into the throat and attack the bronchial passages, and eventually involve the lungs. Many a case of consumption has developed from a severe attack of Catarrh.

The most satisfactory treatment for Catarrh is S. S. S., the unrivaled blood purifier, which so promptly roots and eliminates from the blood the germs of Catarrh. In this way, it gets rid of the cause of the disease by going direct to its source, cleansing the blood thoroughly, and building up and renewing the entire system.

S. S. S. has been on the market for more than fifty years, and has been thoroughly tested in thousands of cases of Catarrh. If you want to be rid of the disease, throw away your makeshift remedies, and begin on S. S. S. today. You will be delighted with the results, as others have been. S. S. S. is sold by drug stores everywhere.

When you begin taking this remedy, you are invited to write for free medical advice and instruction about your own individual case. Address Chief Medical Advisor, 196 Swift Laboratory, Atlantic City, N. J.

By the way, you will be interested to learn that he has cut loose from the crowd he was trailing with. Mostly nuts, he says. Dynamiting munition plants in Canada was a grand project, says he, and it would have come to something if the d—d women had only left the d—d men alone. The explosives are O'Dowd's.

Ten hours before Barnes found this illuminating message on his library table he stood at the window of a lefty Park avenue apartment building, his arm about the slender, yielding figure of the only other occupant of the room. Pointing out over the black housetops, he directed her attention to the myriad lights in the upper floors of a great hostelry to the south and west and said:

"That is where you are going to live, darling."

Spring Fever—What Is It?

THREE o'clock in the afternoon— and absolutely no "pep." You call it spring fever, but is it?

When you are constipated waste matter remains in the intestines, decays, forms poisons which are absorbed into your blood and carried by it to every cell in your body. When your cells are thus poisoned, of course you have no "pep."

Pills, salts, mineral waters, castor oil, etc., merely force the bowels to act, and make constipation and self-poisoning a habit. Nujol is entirely different from drugs as it does not force or irritate the bowels.

Nujol prevents stagnation by softening the food waste and encouraging the intestinal muscles to act naturally, thus removing the cause of constipation and self-poisoning. It is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

Nujol helps Nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world. Get a bottle of Nujol from your druggist today and watch your "pep" come back.

Mrs. Ward Tells British Feeling When America Decided to Enter War

(BY MRS. HUMPHREY WARD.)
(BY MRS. HUMPHREY WARD.)
On March 2, 1917, I found myself lunching at Montreal, then the great headquarters of the British expeditionary force, with the staff of the intelligence department. After lunch I walked through the interesting old town with the chief of the department, and our talk turned on the subjects of supreme importance at that moment—America and Russia.

When would America come in? For that she would come in was clear. It was now a full month since diplomatic relations between Germany and the United States had been broken off, and about a week since President Wilson had asked congress to arm American vessels in self-defense against the new submarine campaign announced by Germany in January.

"It can't be long," said my companion quietly. "Germany has gone too far to draw back. And the president will have the whole country with him. On the whole, I think it has been right to wait. It is from America that the sharpest criticisms of the president's patience."

Aztecs' Last Straw.
My own correspondence of the winter showed me the passion of that criticism. But on the 23 of March there was small fault to find with it. Germany was rushing on her fate. During the course of the month England and America watched the piling up of the German score as vessels and cargoes were sunk. Then the 1st of April came with the loss of 25 American lives in the Aztec and the next day we opened our London newspapers to find that on April 6 President Wilson had asked congress for a declaration of war.

"America is in," wrote an officer at G. H. Q., "and in the faces of everybody one sees how a rank and file soldier is beginning to say 'now we shall be home by Christmas.'"

But something else had happened in that fateful month of March. I saw the strange uncertain opening of the Russian revolution, followed by a burst of sympathy and rejoicing throughout Europe. Those intimates acquainted with the structure of Russian society felt the misgivings of those who see the fall of a house built on rotten foundations and have no intention of building a ground whereon to build its successor.

Changes Real Hope.
But the disappointment and exasperation of the allies at that moment, as to all that happened in Russia, was not so great that the mere change bred hope; and for a long time we hoped against hope. All the more because of the entry of America—and the thrilling rapidity of her earlier action put the Russian business into the shade—may, indeed, have dulled the perceptions of the allies with regard to it.

In 40 days from the declaration of war the United States had adopted conscription, which had taken us two years; General Pershing and his small force had sailed for France within 80 days; and by the end of June, or within 90 days, America had adopted the blockade policy of Great Britain and assented to the full use of that mighty weapon which was to have so vast an influence on the war.

President Wilson's speech when he came to congress to the declaration of war, revealed him—and America—to England, then sorely brooding over "too proud to fight." In an aspect which revived in us all that was kind and brave in the past, it seemed to sleep the natural resentments and astonishments of the preceding years. Nay, we envied America a man capable of giving such magnificent expression to the nation's determination of all free nations, in face of the German challenge.

Troops Arrived Slowly.
Then came the days of disappointment. Troops arrived at a more leisurely pace in France than had been hoped. Ships and aeroplanes, which American enthusiasm in the early weeks of the war had promised in numbers, were delayed. Lack of coal there was congestion on the American railways, interfering with supplies of all kinds; and the weather god, besides, let loose all his storm and snow, and the northern states to hamper the work of transport.

We in England watched these things, not realizing that our own confidence in the military preparation and the resisting power of the allies, was partly to blame for American jealousy. It was so natural that American opinion, watching the war, should split into two phases—one that held the war was going to be won quickly by negotiations, before America could seriously come in; the other that the war would go on for another three years and, therefore, there would be ample time for America to make all her own independent plans and form her own separate army with purely American equipment.

English opinion, wavering in the same way, well remember a gathering in a London house in November, 1917, just after the first successful attack in the battle of Cambrai. "Honour for Gen. Haig," it was a gathering in honor of Gen. Haig, then in London. Gen. Haig was the center of it, and the subject of most of the conversation. The battle of Cambrai was in progress, and English expectations, terribly depressed at any time among those who knew by the reports which had been coming through of the severe fighting in the salient during the preceding weeks, were again rising rapidly.

Everybody was full of a sense of the initial attack of the tanks above all, and what they might mean for the future. At last Sir Julian Byng had achieved surprise, and he had been fighting; it was by happy chance we took Cambrai what might not happen? A flash of optimism ran through us all. Victory and peace drew nearer. Yet in the background there were always those dim rumors of the appalling losses at Passchendaele, together with the smarting memory of Caporetto, and of the British division sent to Italy.

And in ten days more we knew that the German counter-attack had checked the Cambrai advance, that Bourlon wood was lost, that Cambrai was still inaccessible and we retained only a portion of the ground gained by the dash and skill of the first days. The moral was as always—"more men!" and we settled down again to a stubborn waiting for our own new recruits then in the training camps and battalions. Meanwhile the news from Russia was steadily worse; the Russian army had melted away under the Kerensky regulations and the country was rapidly falling into chaos.

Brest-Litovsk was actually realized for the German triumph it was, and the heads of the army were already calculating with some precision the number of German divisions then on the eastern front which must inevitably be transferred to France for the spring offensive of the German army.

Placed Faith in U. S.
It was natural that those really acquainted with the situation should turn feverishly toward America. When was her army coming? In the matter of money America had done nobly toward all the allies. In this field her help had been incalculably great. In the matter of munitions for the allies she had done all that the state of her railways, the weather of her winter and the drawbacks of the American constitution, considered as a military machine, as yet allowed her to do.

Meanwhile one saw the president, aided by a score of able and energetic men, constantly at work removing stones in the path, settling up a war industries board, reorganizing the shipping board and the air service, and clearing the way for those food supplies from the great American and Canadian wheat fields without which Europe could not endure, and which were constantly endangered by the pressure of the submarine attack.

Perhaps in all that anxious winter the phase of American help which touched us English folk most deeply was the voluntary rationing by which hundreds and thousands of American families all over the vast area of the states eagerly sacrificed themselves that they might send food overseas to Great Britain and the allies—50,000,000 bushels of wheat by January 1, 50,000,000 before the 1918 harvest. We knew that it was only done by personal sacrifice, and we felt it in our hearts.

These Are Democratic Days.
Not in the history of the world was the saying, "Uncasy lies the head that wears a crown" truer. Which is a serious sounding prelude to what has always been considered a frivolous subject.

The throne of another monarch is threatened. This time it is a queen. But perhaps I go too far in saying her throne is threatened. I don't think she is in serious danger yet. But there is a movement on foot to limit some of her powers. The monarch to whom I refer has been up to the present one of few absolute monarchs left—Queen Victoria.

Women Are Really Getting Discontented with the Queen.
The movement to limit her powers is the expression of a growing resentment and dissatisfaction among women with her freakish, utterly unreasonable and sometimes very annoying rule. The revolt has its headquarters at a certain women's club, one of the largest and most progressive in this country.

This club has prepared a platform of dress reform. Though the club is very progressive, one is startled at the mildness of its platform. It calls only for the adoption of a few simple standards in dress which Queen Victoria should not be allowed to ignore. It is the rights which are demanded.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cured with "dark brown stool," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 25c and 50c per box. All druggists.

Janes To Meet Beloit Fairy Apprentices, Sunday

By George McManus

MADISONIAN OFFERS CASH TO PUT TEAM ON ITS FEET

(BY KID BIFF)
The Janes are not dead—nor are they dying. They will battle the Fairbanks-Morse Apprentices of Beloit at the fair grounds diamond Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. If the weatherman sees fit to keep the faucet plugged up for the occasion. Only a downpour like that of last evening will prevent the two nines from performing Sunday.

Jimmie Murphy, manager of the reorganized Janes, and manager Patton of the Fairies, today completed arrangements for the game. If there is enough interest shown, and if a cool-sized flock of fans turn out, then a team will be put in the field of which the city may be proud.

Murphy has his eyes glued on several fast steps in this part of the county with a view of signing them up if attendance warrants. He is making overtures toward getting "Babe" Sullivan for service on the second sack. Sullivan has just returned from France and is in the pink of condition.

Meeting Tonight.
The line-up for Sunday's game cannot be announced until after the meeting of all baseball players in the Gazette office tonight. A tentative line-up will be framed, practice dates arranged and a number of other details cleared off the boards. Every ball player, prospective, present, or past should make it a point to be at the meeting tonight.

Hopes for putting on a good team, which have been flickering and dying down for the past two weeks, received a strong boost yesterday afternoon when R. E. Lawrence, Madison, who will open a cafeteria restaurant here in four weeks, came across a flock of iron men to put the team on its feet.

New Name for Team.
Bob likes good baseball—in fact he is said to be quite a player himself—and he wants to see Janesville represented by a team. He demands first, just and all the time, a team that will win games. He is willing to produce

Giants Will Have Real Veteran Team This Year

The cash to put the nine on its feet. He completed arrangements with Jimmie Murphy yesterday for dishing up some kate at once.

In honor of Bob and in recognition of his sportsmanship in agreeing to donate to the club, the team in the future will carry the title "Janesville Lawrence Lunches" on its uniforms.

Introducing the Chief.
With Jimmie Murphy taking over the reins of the city nine it is fitting that he should be introduced to Janesville fans. To some he needs no introduction but to the majority he is known by only "Stiff"—like!

He is an old head at the game. He knows it from all angles. According to his own confession he has played, managed, and umpired during his career.

He started in playing sandlot ball in Kansas City when he was a kid. Putting up a pretty fast article of ball in industrial league teams in Kansas City covering two years there with such men as Johnnie Kling, later catcher for the Chicago Cubs. Joe Tinker, now manager of the Columbus association, and the former shortstop of the famous Cub champs, Johnnie Armstrong, now of the Kansas City association team, and Weaver and Ford, later star artists for the St. Paul association nine.

Had Tough Luck.
Later he played in the Kansas and Oklahoma state leagues, but was forced to give up baseball when he broke both his ankles sliding second base. He managed several "bush leagues" and semi-pro teams after that, and went into the umpiring and in 1919.

He handled the indicator in the following leagues: Michigan state, Illinois-Missouri, Texas-Oklahoma, Texas, Central association, Federal league in 1914, Virginia, and Pennsylvania. He has got a pretty good record back of him and should make a success of baseball here. With a little support of fans, Janesville will have a real team, and baseball will be made.

Murphy took over the team from K. L. Eagon officially yesterday. Assets total $1,800. Liabilities $35, for uniforms which are due to arrive any time.

GREEK DEMON FLOPS MARVEL; BOTH BOXING MATCHES RULED DRAWS

(BY KID BIFF)
If the Masked Marvel is a good specimen of the best the east can produce, then Young Jimmie Demetral can justly lay claim to the middleweight wrestling crown and hold it as long as he likes, as far as eastern hopes are concerned.

It took the mighty Greek boy only an hour and ten minutes to put the Marvel to the mat at the Myers theater last night in two straight falls. The Marvel (Mort Henderson) is today wondering whether he better change his title and disguise himself by throwing away his black mask. He's sort of disgusted at his showing last night.

Although he gave Demmie a pretty tough time of it the whole route he couldn't stand the gaff. He made the Greek use everything he had and then some.

Pastboard Sale Low.
The match together with the two boxing bouts and the other wrestling match made up a good card and it is to be regretted that more fans could not attend. The rain, the war veterans' dance, and other attractions combined to make the ticket sale run little better than the last wrestling show.

Demetral feels somewhat encouraged at the turn-out last night despite the rain and stated today he would probably come back again in two weeks to take on either Capt. Walter Evans, soldier middleweight of Chicago, or Young Hussain, alias the Terrible Turk of Detroit.

Shearer Gets Two Straight.
The two boxing exhibitions went two rounds each to a draw.

Young Shearer, Janesville, 135 pounds, defeated Kid Turner, Watertown, 134, in two minutes of intense grappling. Shearer used the clutch and wrist-lock to flop the Watertown boy. He pinned Turner to the mat in 11 minutes in the second frame with a body scissor and wrist lock. The match was clean and fast throughout.

Local Pugs Perform.
Al Brown, Milwaukee featherweight 120 pounds, and Kid Prox, local lightweight, 125, battled two fast rounds to a draw. Both were quick on their feet, clever with their jabs, and altogether put up a fight that pleased the fans. Under the rules of the boxing commission exhibition matches are limited to two rounds.

In another two rounds of hot milling, Ed. Nichols, Milwaukee welterweight, 145, and Ed. Hell, the Monterey lightweight, 130, broke even. Young Hell had his right working to perfection and might have beaten the Cream City boy in a few more rounds. He was in perfect condition.

Demetral gained his first fall over the Marvel in 33 minutes, finally coping with a body scissor. He clinched the wrist lock with the body scissor to win the second fall in 36½ minutes.

P. E. McKnite refereed the whole ticket.

BUFFALO BELTERS GRIFFITHS.
Buffalo, N. Y., May 7.—Jack Britton, welterweight champion, won all the way from Johnnie Griffiths of Akron, O., in a ten-round bout before the Velodrome A. C. here tonight.

HAGER QUALIFIES IN SHOT-PUT EVENT

In the 220 yard potato race in the high school class last night the preliminary heats were run with Austin Victor over Schmitt, Shurtleff beat Dick, Palmer defeated Ewing, Newman defeated R. Smith, Todd beat Gridley, and P. Smith defeated Crowley. In the semi-finals Shurtleff beat Austin. Three other heats are to be run in this event.

In the employed boys' class Hager placed first in the 5 lb. shot-put with a put of 29 feet 8 in. Gokey placed second with 29 ft. 2½ in. and Kelly was third with 28 ft. 10 in. Others placed as follows: Felts 28 ft. 6½ in.; Sullivan 28 ft. 3 in.; Dickinson 27 ft. 7 in.; Smith 26 ft. 3 in.; McClusky 22 ft. 10 in.; Mills 20 ft. 9½ in.; Dougherty 21 ft. 11 in.; Rauch 22 ft. 7 in.

McClusky defeated Dickinson in the qualifying heat in the 250 yard dash and Gokey defeated McClusky in the semi-finals in the 220 yard potato race. Hager also defeated Felts in this event in a qualifying heat.

In the high pump in the employed boys' class Gokey was first with a jump of 4 ft. 5 in. Sullivan placed second with a jump of 4 ft. 3 in. In the jump off of a tie between Sullivan, McClusky and Felts, McClusky placed first with 4 ft. 2 in. Kelly was fifth with 4 ft. 1 in.

THE FRIENDLY TOBACCO

THERE may be some things that can be done well in a hurry, but pickin' a wife an' agin' a tobacco ain't amongst 'em.

Velvet Joe

We put away millions of pounds of fine Kentucky Burley tobacco every year, stored in wooden hogsheads. It ripens two years. When we take it out it's different—Nature has improved it, good as it was—made it friendlier, more fragrant, cool-smoking, long-burning.

Nature has given it a delicious quality of mildness and fragrance that no artificial means can ever equal.

It's just that extra touch of friendly goodness that is building up VELVET Tobacco into the favor and good will of thousands of pipe smokers who prefer to smoke tobacco cured in Nature's way.

You would notice the difference.
